

Harry's Activity Weekend Diary

Dear Diary

While I'm away on this weekend I thought I'd keep a diary to remind me what I got up to while I was away. Mum always wants to know EVERYTHING!!!

Getting there wasn't too bad. I hate long journeys but I suppose it didn't take too long to get there really.

Everyone was really helpful and I got all my stuff sorted out really quickly and worked out where I was sleeping and stuff like that. I like to know where all my things are but it wasn't a problem.

We had some really good food too and there were loads of people to meet. I didn't really know anyone before I got here but lots of people didn't either and now it seems like I've known them ages!

Anyway, that's enough for the first day.

Watch this space for more of Harry's Activity Weekend Diary!

