

Reach for the Sky

Do you have big plans? There's no reason why having a bleeding disorder should stop you achieving your dreams. There are 23,000 thousand people in the UK with a bleeding disorder and many of you have done some fantastic things, from climbing mountains to playing in professional rock bands.

We can give you information on getting funding for some of your adventures and on education and training opportunities. Do get in touch if you have a particular dream we could help with.
